CHARLESTON — The law firm Spilman Thomas & Battle, PLLC (Spilman) announced its launch of the Spilman SuperVision app for iOS devices.

The new app, which is available for free download in the Apple App Store, is designed to help corporate executives, general counsel, business owners and human resources professionals with questions frequently encountered by the firm's labor and employment attorneys.

"We are excited to share the latest information on human resources issues and regulations via this new channel," said Eric W. Iskra, chair of Spilman's labor and employment practice group. "This app is a perfect complement to our SuperVision labor and employment symposium series and our quarterly e-newsletter. Finding new ways to deliver additional value to our clients is always front-of-mind at Spilman."

The app allows users to explore common employment law situations, including those relating to overtime pay, final wage payment and employee complaints on social media. Following the app's simple decision tree, users can gain a better understanding of their particular employment issue, what their options are, and when to seek the counsel of a knowledgeable legal advisor.

Spilman's labor and employment practice group has been ranked at the national level through the Best Law Firms survey, a combined effort of U.S. News & World Report and Best Lawyers®, for excellent representation of management in employment disputes. The group has also been recognized by ALM as a Go-To Law Firm® for labor law litigation.

Spilman Thomas & Battle is a full-service law firm with more than 140 attorneys. Founded in 1864, Spilman has offices in Charleston, Morgantown and Wheeling; Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Pa.; Winston-Salem, N.C.; and Roanoke, Va. For more information, visit www.spilmanlaw.com.
